New-Haven, Conn.
29, July, 1868.

There was, some years ago, at Buell's farm, close by Tocstopo-pee pond, in Chatham, about nine miles east of Middletown, a large collection of Indian relics, axes, chisels, pestles, arrow heads, and the like.

This farm is still kept by the same man, I think, and the collection may still be there.

Prof. Marsh. Your friend's Surt, Wm. J. Irwin.

Kinne