East Bethany, N.Y., Jan 18th 1884.

To Prof Frank Bradley or any of his family,

as long ago as six or seven years Mr. Bradley gathered and packed to boxes of geological specimens, and left them in my store house to be forwarded to him in a few months, on receipt of instructions from him. They are still with me, since three times since I saw notice in N. Y. Times of the death of Prof. Frank Bradley by a fall of rock in gold mines in North Carolina, and inspecting it might be he I wrote Prof. March of Yale College, but received no reply. Now I would be glad to know if he be living or dead; and I would be glad to dispose of the boxes. But if he lives I wish him to have them; I hope I may get an answer to this.

Very respectfully,

B. F. Peck
Prof. Frank Bradley
New Haven, Conn.

Respectfully referred to Prof. Marsh by Postmaster.
