Norfolk, Neb., Feb. 9th, 1888.

Dear Sir:

About 150 miles from here, on the Niobrara river, is an immense bone, measuring about 3 feet in length, by 18 or 20 inches in diameter, and is, apparently, from the knee down. The marrow-hole is so large, that I can shove both fists into it at once.

I know it is no log, for I can scrape it with a knife, and the knee joint shows plainly. There are several other large bones in that locality. Would such a bone be of any value to you?

Yours truly,

(Signed) Walter G. Ward.
